

Screenwriter, producer and director trained at New York University, the Cuban Film School and the University of California, LA. In 2003, at the age of 26, Ed founded La Diferència, his own agency and production company from where he writes and produces advertising campaigns and film and television projects.

He has also directed the documentaries “When a Dream Comes True” -which was the only Spanish project of its promotion selected for the Discovery Documentary Campus, where it won the award for best pitch in Leipzig- and “Empatía”, released in theaters in Spain, France and Latin America, winner of the Audience Award at the Greenpeace Film Festival, and broadcasted on television in Europe, the United States and Latin America. He recently directed the short film “Donde se quejan los pinos”, a rural thriller with an environmentalist message.

Projects as producer and director:

2017 EMPATÍA

Released in theatres in Spain, France and Latin America.

Winner of the Audience Award at the Greenpeace Film Festival in France.

Broadcast on Starz TV (USA), Señal Colombia (Colombia) and FILMIN (Spain).

Available in Filmin.

2019 WHEN A DREAM COMES TRUE

With the collaboration of TV3.

Broadcast on TVC (Catalonia), RTP (Portugal) and Filmin (Spain).

Currently on Netflix, Disney+ and Filmin.

2024 DONDE SE QUEJAN LOS PINOS

It currently has more than 54 selections, 10 Goya qualifiers and 15 awards.

Starring Ramón Barea, Francesc Orella, Almudena Amor and Víctor Solé.